"To You We Offer Our

This, the Silver Anniversary of our present building, affords teachers and pupils alike a time for reflection. A school is not a mere building, but it derives its existence from its teachers and students. We must keep open the windows of our minds and exercise vast powers of will and determination to achieve satisfaction in life.

Like the two-faced god, Janus, we can look backward on twenty-five years of accomplishment and forward to the future. The Class of 1960 pays tribute to Mr. Snyder, our devoted principal, who has been with us through the years and has set high standards for us to fulfill, and to the teachers, to the alumni, and to the present student body, all of whom have helped build the reputation of which John Marshall is proud.

“Today is the tomorrow of yesterday.”

Twenty-Five Years of Progress . . .

It was pointed out by Mr. Spinning in his dedicatory address that "It is significant that it was the pupils of the John Marshall High School themselves who were first to point out that the building and all which it contains are but the means to an end; that these facilities are justified only as the program carried out here brings something of lasting value to society."

At these exercises we, the students and teachers were challenged to remember —

That the chief aim of scholastic endeavor is to seek out truth;

That we should cherish exactness in mathematics; thorough comprehension in reading; clear statement in composition; faithful examination of all the data in science and history and economics;

That the best preparation for life is life well lived in the present;

That to know is not enough; that conduct is three-fourths of life; and the ideals of boys and girls are even more important than skill and knowledge;

That the hand training has always been a part of sound education;

That the hand informs the mind and the hand interprets the mind;

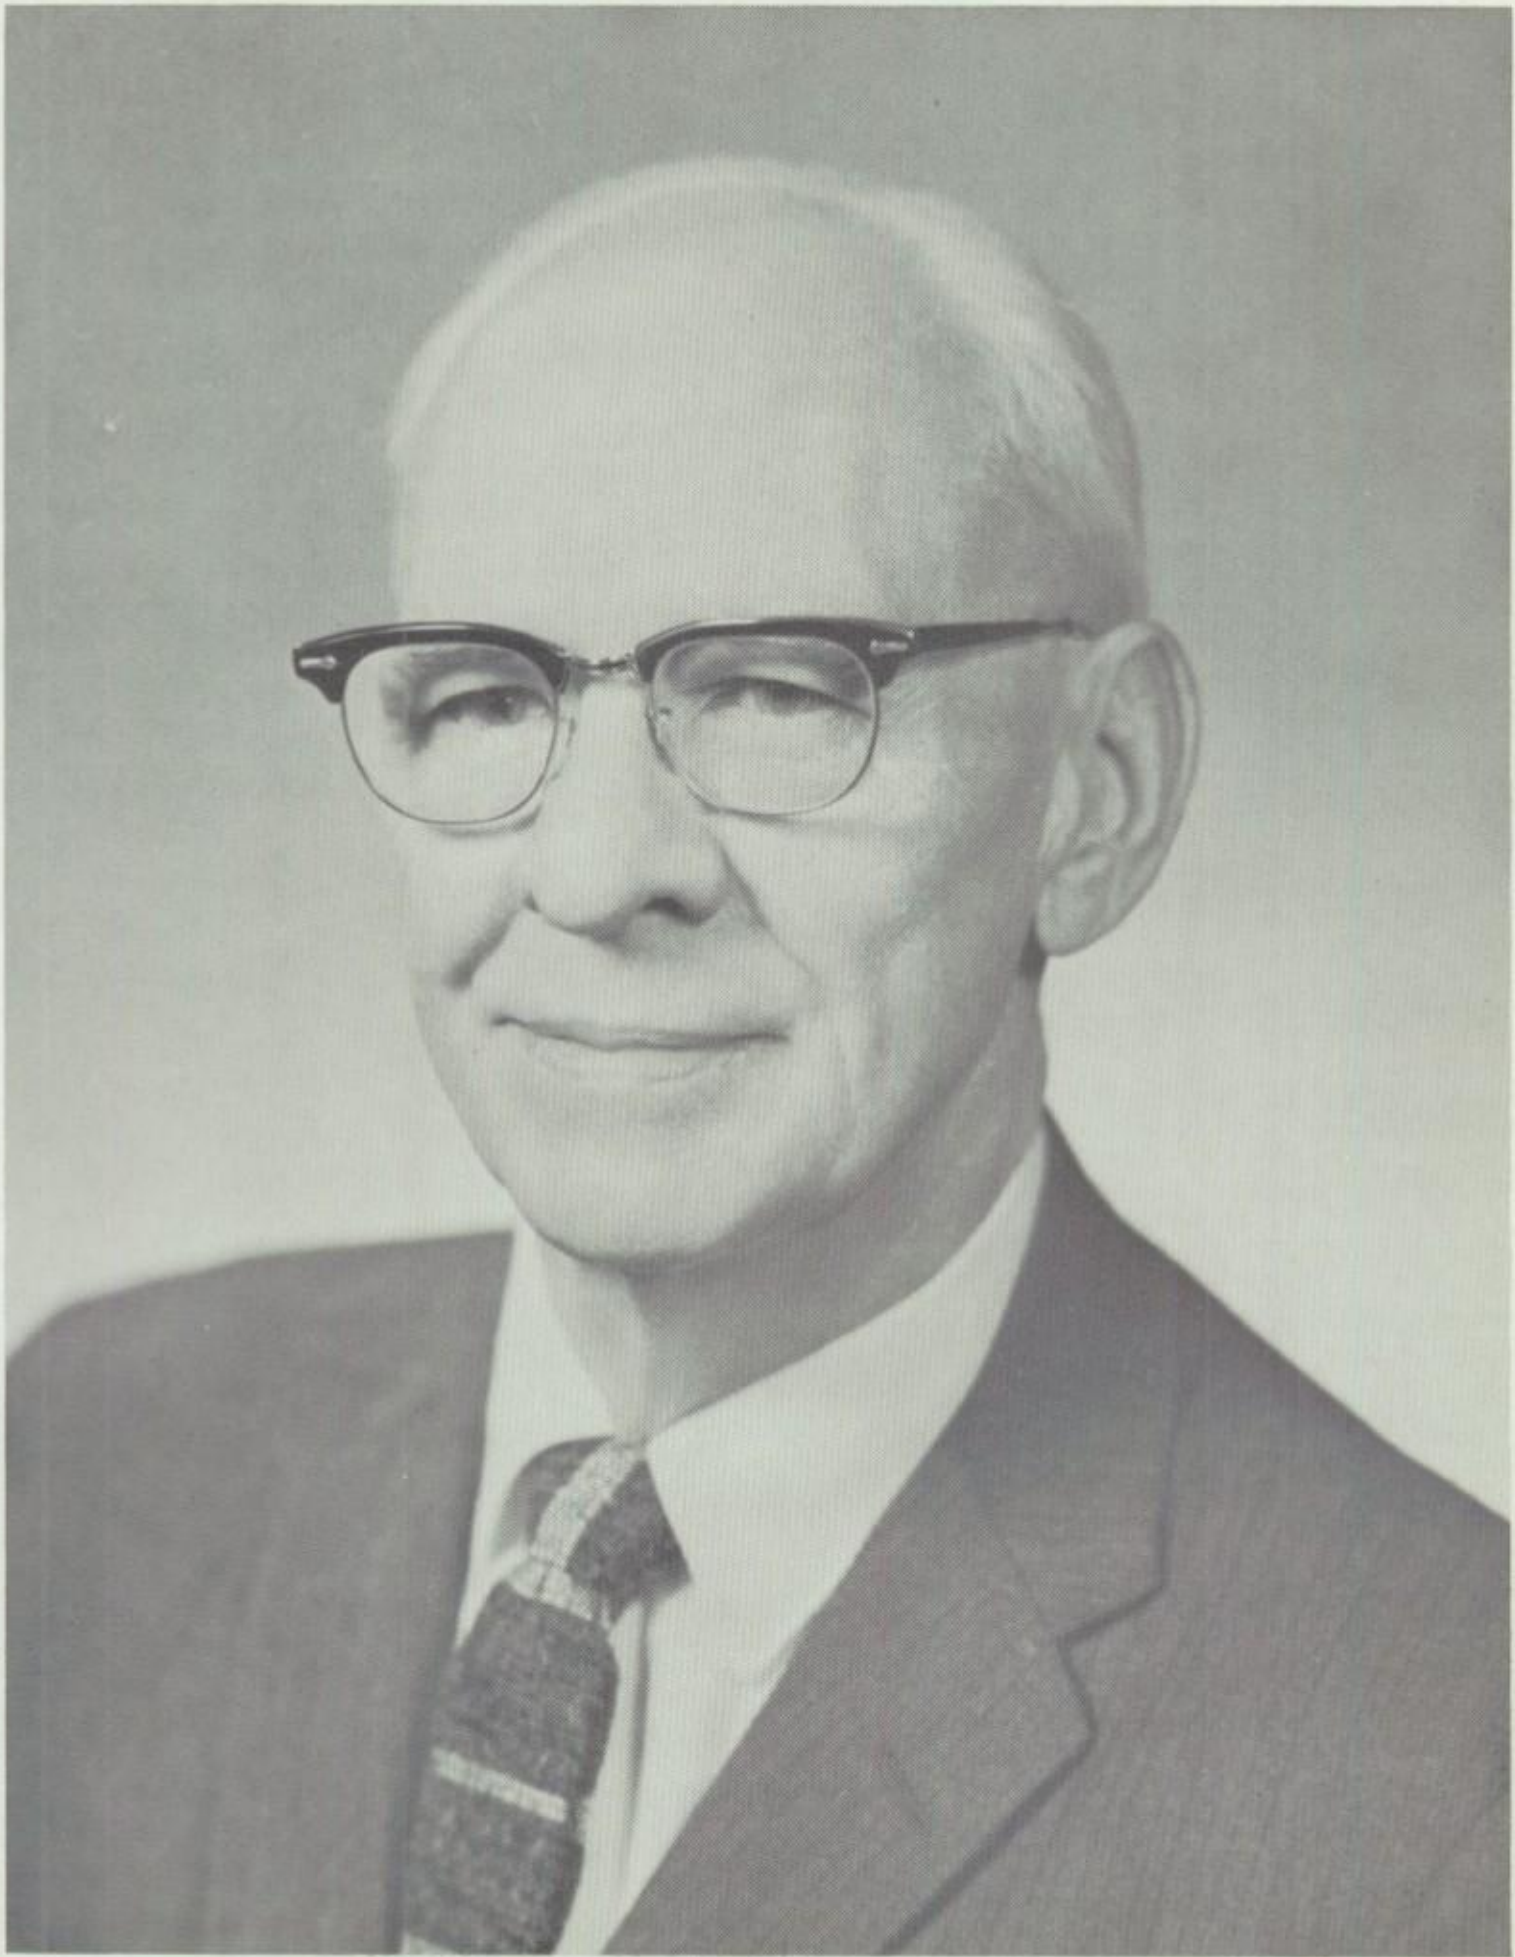

That it is the obligation of the modern school to discover and help to develop special talents; that from creative activity comes the greatest joy;

That fun and friendship are important elements in life and that all in their activities should strive to emphasize the development of each one;

That health is essential to happiness and to all continuing achievement;

That we should remember the sacredness of personality; That teachers should respect the students and cultivate in them understanding of and a respect for the views and the needs of others.

We at Marshall have aimed through the past years to live and teach according to these goals; it is our feeling that in the years ahead we should maintain these same goals giving even greater emphasis to their realization.

SOCIAL STUDIES

By acquainting students with the history of a civilized world, the Social Studies Department attempted to give students an understanding of past struggles, thus enabling them to vote intelligently and criticize constructively the government actions. Following three years of history, the seniors enhanced their education with knowledge of the American economic system and practical lessons in democracy.

In Memoriam

The pupils and teachers were grieved to learn of the death of Trafton Boulls on December 14, 1959. Trafton came to John Marshall High School as a teacher of social studies in September, 1940.

Mr. Boulls brought to his teaching a rich background in his chosen field, a high interest in the profession, and a love of young people. A staunch believer in the trained mind, Mr. Boulls set his standards high to work toward this goal. Never compromising with half-completed tasks, he looked upon education as a challenge toward perfection and accepted no substitute for hard work.

John Marshall is a better place for having had Trafton Boulls as a member of its staff over this 19 year period.

Communicating In That World

ENGLISH

Reading, writing, and effective speech were emphasized this year in the various classes in English. In literature students were introduced to the best authors and their works. Interest was sparked by movies and by the use of records.

Pupils were given the opportunity to make reports, thus learning how to face an audience, and how to speak effectively.

Effort was made to help each one to be literate and articulate in both oral and written expression.

Seated: Mrs. Anna Brown, Mary Foley, Toby Susswein. Standing: David Wood, Mrs. Katherine Saunders, Ethel Dunn, Grace Leader, Mrs. Mary Granger, Mrs. Jane Jones, Mrs. Mary Murphy, Mrs. Alice Earl, James Hawthorne.

SCIENCE

In the Science Department the classes endeavored to point up the need of critical thinking, the solution of problems by the application of the scientific method, the attention to detail and accuracy — all necessary attributes of a citizen of the Space Age.

LANGUAGE—Frank C. Leach, Donald R. Clark, Florence M. Chittenden, Agnes V. Powers.

BUSINESS

The aim of the Business Department, this year, was to increase production and accuracy in business. A cooperative plan gave seniors the chance to apply their knowledge through training on the job. A new course, Briefhand, was offered to college preparatory students. This one-semester course is an abbreviated longhand system, and should prove of great value to the college student in taking notes.

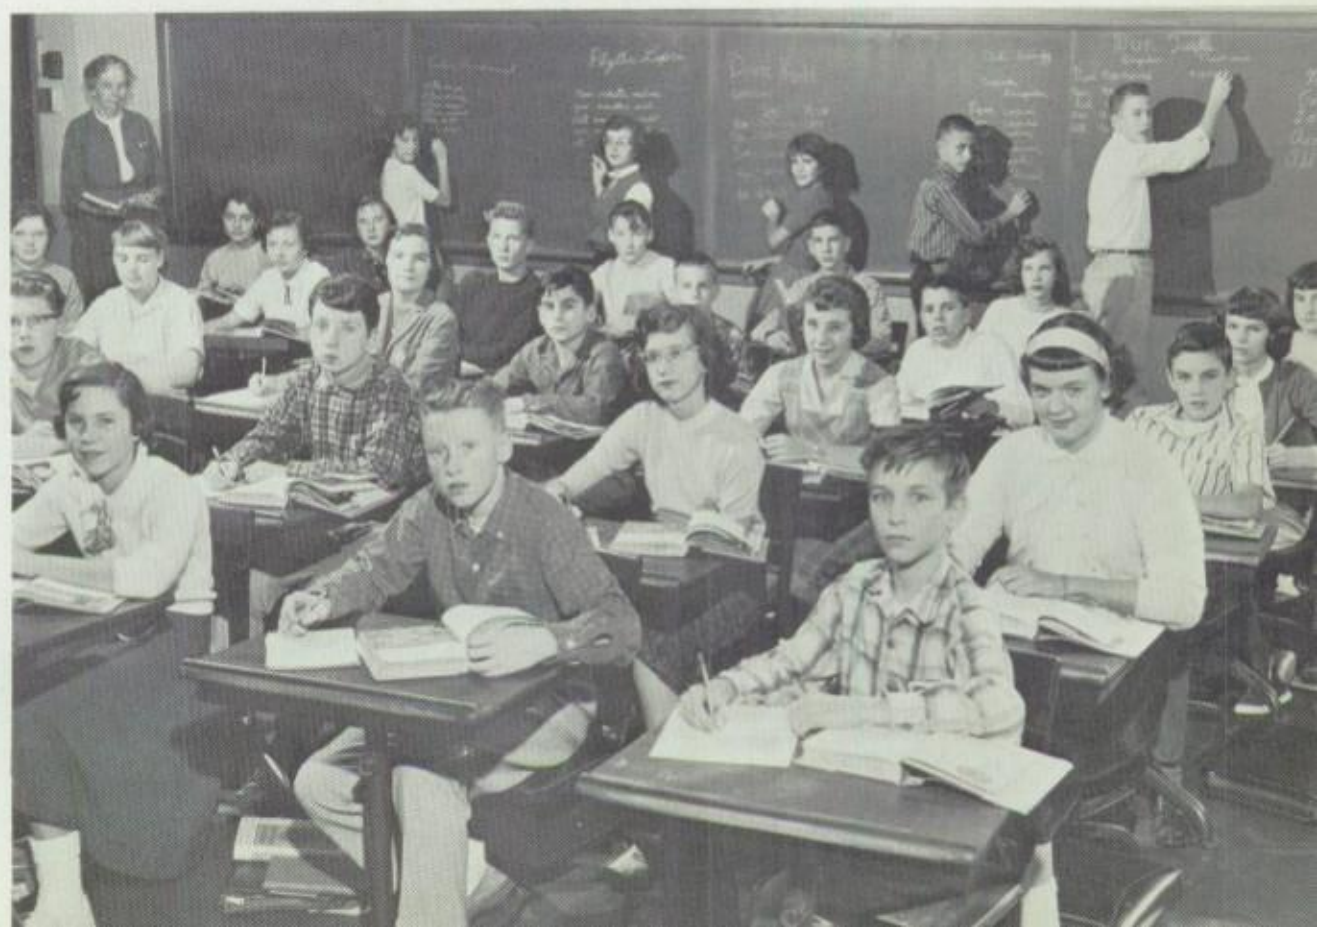

Future Secretaries

Latin is a serious business.

LANGUAGE

Both oral and written communication were the new emphasis in the modern foreign language classes. Two experimental groups at the eighth year level — one in Latin and the other in Spanish were formed. Electronic devices — tape recorder, record players, and television have helped improve diction. Latin, this year, continued to impart to its learners a detailed knowledge of the basic structure of language.

MATHEMATICS—Charles Pflaum, Thomas Byrnes, Mrs. Edith Olmstead, Paul Epping, Monroe Lord.

MATHEMATICS

With compasses, straight-edges, and pencils the students in the well-rounded mathematics program practiced their skills.

Practical mathematics courses, intended to provide a strong foundation for the daily mathematical needs of a citizen, were offered to students desiring a general background.

For the college-bound pupils a five year sequence of regents level courses gave a sound preparation for subsequent mathematical work.

For the students of above average mathematical ability, courses in calculus were offered to enable them to enter second year college mathematics.

Mathematical Techniques

FINE ARTS—Mrs. Ruth Schlenker, Mrs. Jane Feuerherm, Mr. Robert Moran, Mr. George Corwin.

FINE ARTS

New materials and techniques were used by the Fine Arts Department to encourage each student to express himself through different media. Chalk, crayon, brush, violin, and the human voice, all helped the students to interpret life and bring light and shadow to this world.

ART CLASS

Ruth Puls, Mrs. Billie Eyesvogel.

PRACTICAL ARTS

The Practical Arts Department offered basic practical skills to future homeowners and homemakers through courses in woodworking, metals, drafting, home-economics, and artcraft.

Correct methods concerning the use and care of modern machines were introduced to the boys. Students enrolled in the home economics classes were taught intelligent buying, good family relations, and kitchen practices. This year both Homemaking II and IV featured a semester devoted to the "Preparation for Marriage."

PRACTICAL ARTS—Royal Hill, George Swanson, Robert Crull, John Sullivan.

ART CLASS

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Health and Physical Education covered a wide area of subjects this past year. It gave boys and girls an opportunity to improve upon their skills in the gym and pool. Lifesaving classes were offered for those with good swimming ability. Hygiene, safety, and first aid classes proved to be beneficial. In all, the program was based on achieving good sportsmanship.

STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION

Last September 95% of the student body became members of the Students' Association. Officers of the Association were President, John Thorpe; Vice-President, Parker Weld; Secretary, Martha Davis; and Treasurer, Sandra Gaylord.

The dues for membership helped to finance the Docket, the assemblies, and such social events as the Pumpkin Prom and the Snowball.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Meeting twice a month, the thirty-four members of the John Marshall Chapter of the National Honor Society undertook this year's major project — the evaluation of the character analysis process in order to improve the present system of electing candidates for membership on the basis of character.

Mr. Hoffman, adviser, and the elected officers, Charles Owen, Fred Hoyt, and Nancy Perona, encouraged the continuation of excellence in scholarship and leadership, the participation in activities and the fostering of the curious mind — all of which are the purposes of the NHS.

The top 25% of the seniors and 15% of the juniors are considered for membership, but only a maximum of 15% and 5%, respectively, may be chosen. Membership is based on scholarship, leadership, service, and character.

THE LEGISLATURE

Guiding the activities and determining the policies of the school, kept the legislature busy this year. Every homeroom sent a representative to the meetings, so that all grade levels had a voice in the school government. Chip Weld, the Student's Association Vice-President, presided, and Martha Davis, Secretary, took the minutes and kept records. The legislature successfully directed such activities as the Memorial Scholarship Drive, the March of Dimes campaign, John Quill sales, and the S.A. membership campaign.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

The Junior Red Cross activities this year were conducted by representatives from each grade level. Chairman of the group was senior representative, Judy Janowicz. Under her leadership these students organized and coordinated the fund raising and membership campaign which took place in March.

SERVICE CORPS

TRAFFIC SQUAD

Every morning this year at 8:25 and every afternoon at the close of school, sixteen boys helped pedestrians to cross safely the several street corners used by John Marshall students. These boys, clad in orange and blue jackets, were members of the Traffic Squad, which was under the direction of Mr. Gerace.

The duties of each individual traffic officer included taking charge of his post and directing and controlling the students in regard to time, place, and method of crossing the street. Traffic Squad members also displayed the all-clear signal to the students in the corridors after all fire drills and air raids.

Sacrificing time and energy, the John Marshall Service Corps, directed this year by Mr. Thomas Vetter, was an important school service organization. The corps patrolled the halls of the school prior to the 8:30 A.M. bell; these students also looked after the order during the first and second lunch periods, later putting the tables and chairs in order; furthermore they acted in the capacity of ushers for special school events.

RATING COMMISSION

After the students rated their cards each marking period, the homeroom rating clerk checked the rating slips for accuracy, determined the median, and turned in the top five names of the homeroom to the Rating Commission for display in the main hall.

The members of the Commission then stamped Honorable Mention, or Honor Roll on the report cards.

Learning Thrift

THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT

The Treasury Department, supervised by Mrs. Laura Colahan, kept the financial records of the school. Sandra Gaylord, the Student Association Treasurer, prepared the daily bank deposits. Records of deposits and postings were kept by student bookkeepers, Linda LaBar, Nancy DeZimm, and Marianne LaCroix. Other students participating in the department this year were Linda Keefer, Shirley Milatz, and Bonnie Quackenbush, typists; and John Raif and Thomas Vergari, bank messengers.

Seated: M. La Croix, N. De Zimm. Standing: J. Raif, T. Vergari, L. LaBar, Mrs. Colahan, S. Gaylord

Saving money, an important item in education, was fostered by a vital banking program, under the direction of the Rochester Savings Bank. All of Marshall's homerooms participated. The banking clerks, under Mr. Coccia, received and recorded the money from the students.

DRAMATICS

On the other side of the footlights, a group of Marshall dramatists worked on the writing of plays, acting the parts, and applying effective make-up. The Marshall Players worked hard under the direction of Mrs. Ann Brown and thus developed their dramatic skills.

After school programs included a play produced entirely by Drama Club members, and a lecture given by a former vaudeville clown and stagehand. The twice monthly meetings were arranged to acquaint students with dramatic skills.

The Marshall Chapter of the National Thespians Society was enlarged this year by the election to membership of those achieving honor in dramatics.

RADIO WORKSHOP

Again this year, the radio workshop faithfully provided music and entertainment for the enjoyment of the students and the faculty. Sports announcements, special announcements, and programs of special interest were piped into all of the rooms through the P. A. system. At Christmas-time, the workshop contributed to a special Christmas program presented by the Rochester Civic Orchestra.

LIBRARY AIDES

Behind the scenes in the library, a group of veteran workers, ably directed by Miss Hilfiker with the assistance of Mrs. Piazza achieved a record of efficiency in handling the many varied types of material contained in John Marshall's store house of knowledge. Part of their work was to train a staff of aides for next year.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The Elmer W. Snyder Chapter of the Future Teachers of America expanded its interests this year to include helping other high schools form such clubs, and enabling many other students in the area to develop their interests in teaching. Again, under the capable guidance of Miss Hilfiker, the club provided many seniors with valuable training through cadet teaching in area grade schools.

LUNCHROOM CASHIERS

Making the wheels of service in the lunchroom run more smoothly, several girls gave their time and help to Mrs. Short in the cafeteria. Their duties were to check students through the lunch lines, to change those five and ten dollar bills, and to keep the shelves supplied with food.

FIRE DOOR CORPS

As concern for safety was evidenced by the Fire Department of Rochester about Marshall's fire doors, a Fire Corps was formed this year. Members of the Corps were responsible for keeping the fire doors closed at each exit, on every floor including the basement. These students gave up some of their daily study hall time to perform this service.

STUDENT SECRETARIES

"Experience is the best teacher" is a proverb which proved to be true as many students were kept busy acting as student secretaries. They served competently in the various offices of the counselors, advisers, and department heads. Typing and filing were among their many duties.

BETA HI-Y

Through increased competition and membership, Beta carried its banners high. Beta sponsored several social events including dances and splash parties. This organization also took part in the annual "Youth in Government Convention" held at Albany. From this program developed a Bill's Committee that mapped out a bill for next year's convention.

ALPHA HI-Y

In its second year Alpha Hi-Y had a very stimulating program led by Mr. Hoffman, club adviser, and Dave Wallace, Bob Goellner, Dick Mengel, Lyn Eaton and Dave Schulz, the club officers.

The organization brought in new members, had various speakers, worked at several service projects, sponsored a youth and government bill, and sent a delegate to the conferences in Albany and in the city.

THETA SIGMA ETA TRI-Y

Members of Theta Sigma Eta Tri-Y entered enthusiastically on a program of service and social activities. Social activities included a Halloween party and a combined Saint Patrick's Day dance and bowling party. Joining in the fun both times were their honored guests—the members of a Hi-Y club.

For their major community service project of the year, the group prepared craft materials for the blind.

EDITORS

Produced entirely by the students, the John Quill is a permanent record of school events, clubs, and activities, and shows the result of the combined efforts, talents, and time of all the staffs under the leadership and guidance of the editors.

The adviser, and the student staff started early in the fall planning picture schedules, making layouts, writing accounts, selecting a theme and suitable art work. Everything was planned to carry out the theme. Selling John Quills and securing advertisements from local firms, homerooms, private groups, and other concerns proved to be a challenging assignment for several committees.

Representatives from Varden Studios photographed seniors, teachers, homerooms, and school activities. Early in March these pictures along with write-ups, layout, and identifications were sent out to the DuBois Press. This, however, was only the beginning and was followed by a return of the galley proof of the printing and the silver proof of pictures. After a careful check the proofs were sent back for the final copy.

At the Senior Banquet in May, the completion of the yearbook was celebrated and the finished 172 page product was distributed to the students.

SENIOR CHOIR

The John Marshall Senior Choir, composed of approximately one hundred voices under the direction of Mr. G. Corwin, had another successful year.

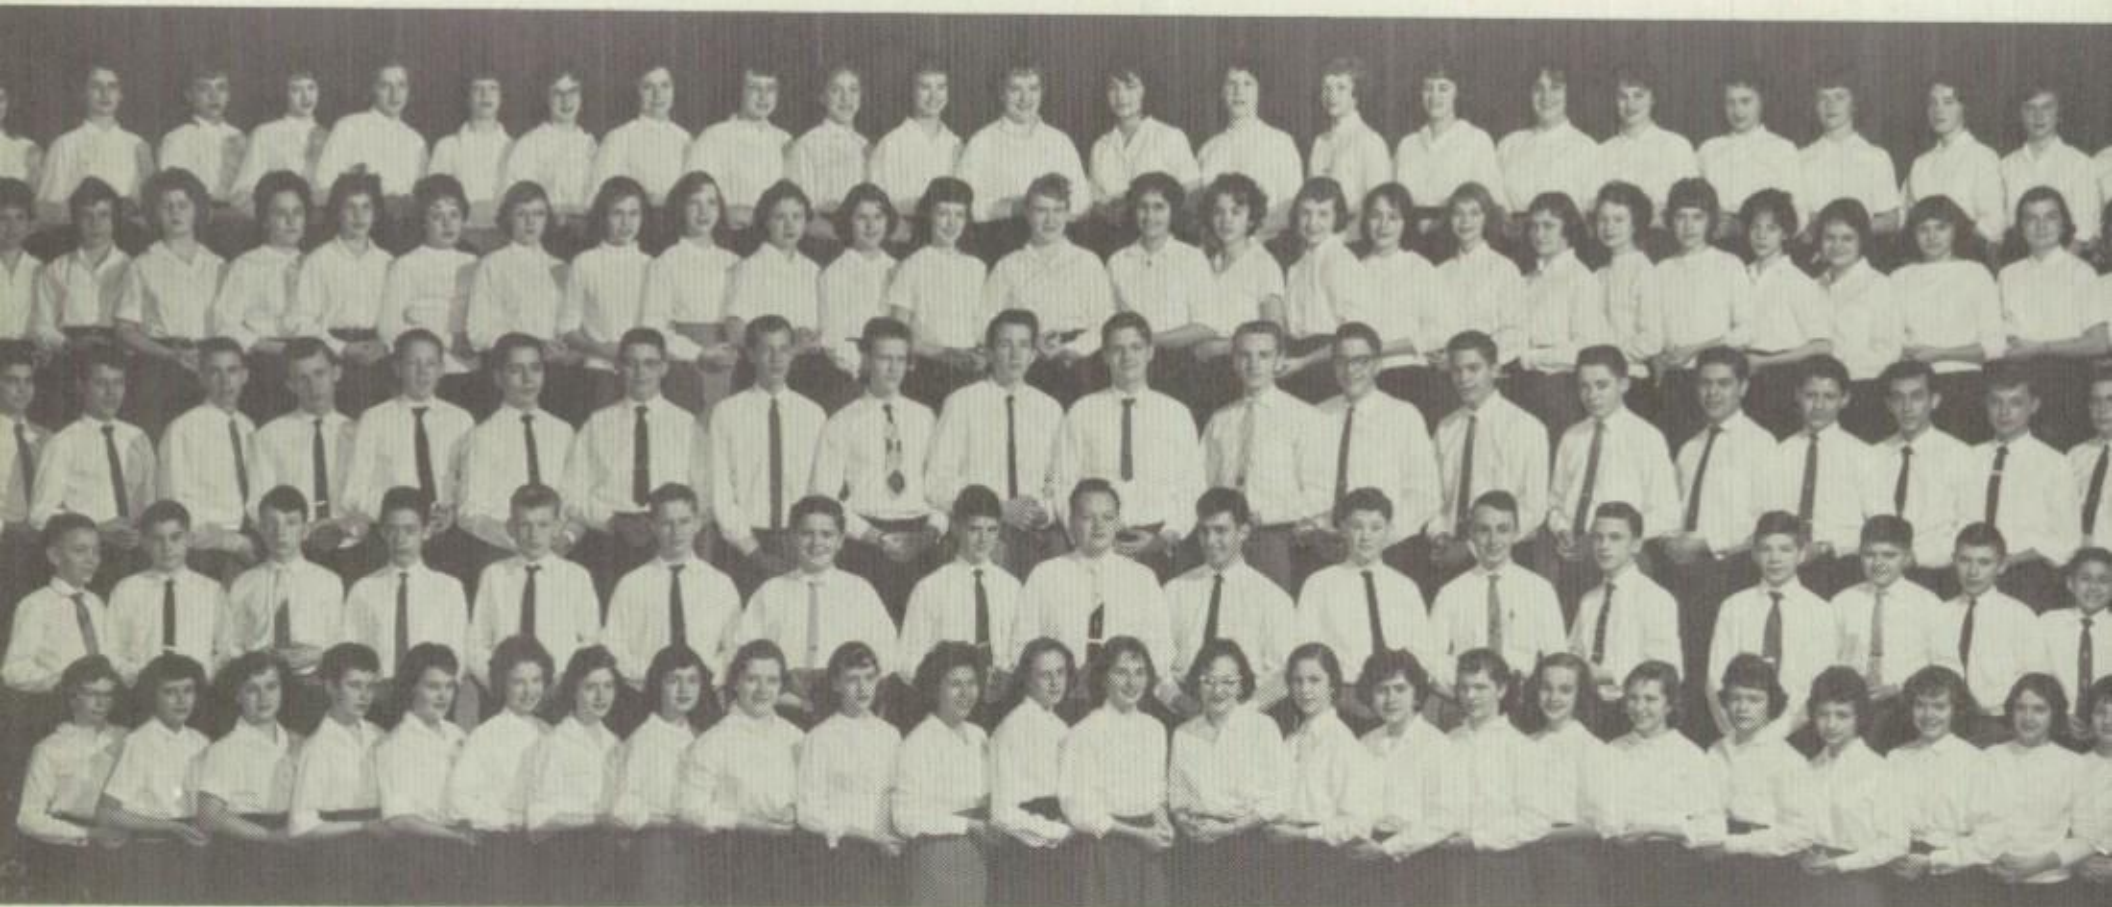

Outstanding among the Senior Choir's achievements were the Christmas program in which they performed "A Ceremony of Carols" by Benjamin Britten and the Spring Concert in which they were privileged to sing "Make a joyful Noise", a choral work composed especially for them by Richard Lane of the Ford Foundation.

JUNIOR CHOIR

The John Marshall Junior Choir this year was composed of approximately one hundred students from the eighth and ninth grades who met during the week under the directions of Mr. G. Corwin. The highlight of the Junior Choir this year was the radio broadcast of songs of Christmas accompanied by the Rochester Civic Orchestra. This broadcast reached students all over New York State. The choir also performed in the annual spring concert.

MARSHALL SINGERS

During the past year, twenty students who like to sing stumbled out of bed three days a week in time to meet with Mr. Corwin before school. These rehearsals resulted in a successful Marshall Singers concert at the Genesee Valley Union Trust Company Annual Christmas Program. Their big project was the singing of Sixteenth Century Madrigals, unusual and difficult work for high school people.

Seated: Mrs. Remington. First Row: M. Ward, B. Turner, C. Woods, L. McConkey, K. Beane, K. Lingl, J. Bieber, S. Lamphier, S. Wangman, J. Giordano. Second Row: A. Lo Presti, D. La Fave, K. Mundt, P. Ranke, D. Eckardt, H. Rooksby, D. Green, R. Virkus, G. Beehler, R. Mundt.

Both at Marshall and throughout the state this year, the John Marshall Senior Band, under the new director, Mr. Robert Moran, took part in many activities. Included in these activities were participation in several concerts including the Highland Park Bowl Festival, and participation in the New York State Festival competition. Further incentive for the group was provided by the organization of a trombone trio, a clarinet ensemble, and a brass ensemble. In addition to this, eight members of the band became members of the All-State Band.

ORCHESTRA

Marshall's new musical director, Mr. Robert Moran, formerly of Wilkes College, worked with the sixteen piece orchestra on a program of special arrangements of symphonic works for small orchestras.

Although reduced in size, the orchestra still maintained its skillful renditions of musical works.

JUNIOR BAND

As a step between grade school and the Senior High Band, the Junior Band afforded its members useful experience and skill, both of which are demanded by the Senior Band. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Moran, the twenty-five members of the Junior Band improved in ability and skill.

ORCHESTRA—First Row: B. Betlem. Second Row: J. Renner, M. Davis, J. Haupenthal, M. Beamish, D. Cumbo, J. Kirk, J. Jones. Third Row: S. Wangman, Mr. Moran, B. Hagreen, R. Schumaker, D. Nolin, S. Fiore, W. Balsemo, I. Schmitt.

Varsity Cheerleaders

With here a cheer and there a cheer, the 1959-60 Junior Varsity Cheerleaders practiced often during the summer and school year. These Marshall girls cheered for the Soccer and Junior Varsity Basketball teams. An entirely new group of girls with Gail Guidice, Captain, and Joyce Cornelius, Co-Captain, supported their teams with pep and enthusiasm.

New cheers, new uniforms, and many new faces graced the 1959-60 Varsity Cheerleading squad. The cheerleaders contributed to school spirit by supporting the football and Varsity Basketball teams with pep assemblies and enthusiasm. There was more to cheerleading than smiles and pep songs for these Marshall girls, however; the squad practiced during the summer and winter. The end of the basketball season did not conclude their work, for spring found the cheerleaders instructing some 100 girls who tried out for the next year's team.

Meeting twice a week to practice with their batons, the Varsity Majorettes, under the leadership of Sandy Mingus, Captain, and Nancy Hunt, Co-Captain, had a busy year marching at football and basketball games. In addition, the majorettes sold programs at the games and marched in the Memorial Day Parade.

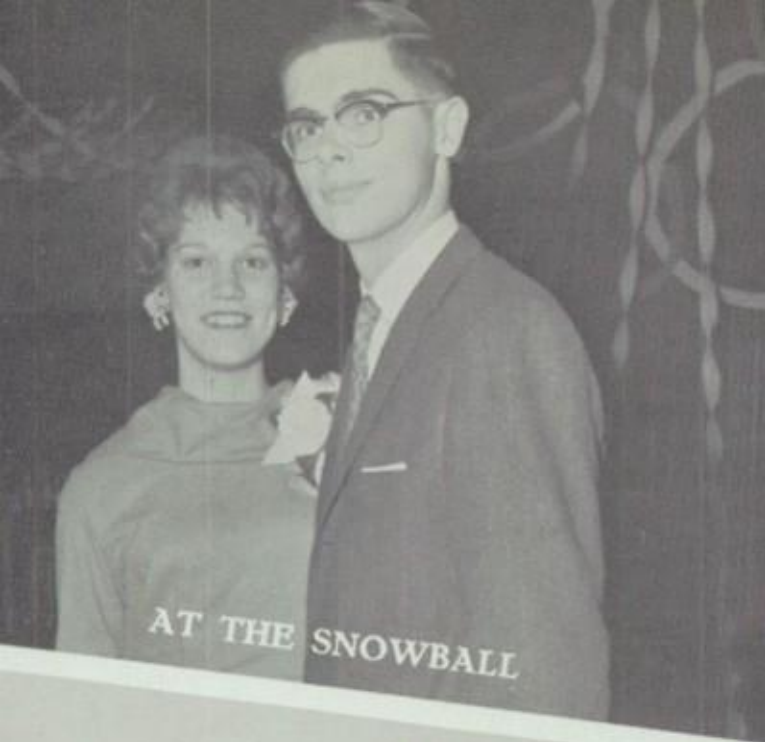

JUNIOR VARSITY MAJORETTES

Twirling their way to success, the Junior Varsity Majorettes worked out a striking routine to "Winter Wonderland" and performed it at one of the football games.

Captain, Gerry O'Connell, and Co-Captain, Ellen Fisk, led the squad in practice sessions twice a week.

Kathleen Bindert, Italy	1959

On the golden island of Sicily in the Mediterranean, Kathleen Bindert spread good-will and understanding as the 1959 Summer Exchange Student from John Marshall. She was kept busy swimming, touring the island, and learning the language, customs, and culture of her adopted country. In August, Kathy lived in Erice, a medieval mountain city with several French-Norman castles, Greek-Roman temples, and twisting, narrow streets. Sightseeing in Naples, Rome, and Pompeii, to name a few Italian cities viewed during her nine-day bus tour with other diplomats, climaxed Kathy's exciting and unforgettable summer adventure.

Along with 2500 other American Field Service students, Kathy and Maria played their part in bridging the gap between nations by "walking and talking together."

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE

"Walk together, talk together, O ye people of the earth. Then, and only then shall ye have peace."

Continuously since 1952 John Marshall High School has played its part in making this motto of the American Field Service student exchange program a reality. Twelve Teen-age Diplomats from eleven countries have studied here and eight Marshallites have lived with families abroad during the summer months and learned at first hand the conditions in other countries and their customs, language, and culture.

This year's student from abroad was Maria Abasolo from the city of Concepcion, near the coast of Chile. Arriving in Rochester in late August of 1959, Maria was greeted by her hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Mingus. She began at once to become "Americanized" by adapting herself to the new surroundings and customs. Maria took part in several assembly programs and performed native Chilean dances for the students.

The 1959 Soccer Team, coached by Mr. Anthony Gerace, had a very successful season. The Jurists finished in a first place tie with West for Interscholastic honors. In the Section V tournament, Marshall beat Penfield 6-2, and then met a tough Edison team and finished with a 2-2 tie. Thus both Marshall and Edison were declared co-champions of Section V.

JOHN MARSHALL OF OLD (1926-1935)

This building served as the John Marshall High from September 1926 to June 1935. A discarded factory building, it was noted for its old-fashioned coal stoves, narrow corridors, beaverboard partitions, gruesome portables, creaking stairs, and about 500 enthusiastic students.

This picture of a former Marshall baseball team was taken quite a while ago. There were but five teams in the Interscholastic League at the time; Marshall, Charlotte, Edison, East, West. Marshall finished second to East in the league this year.

WATER BALLET—N. Hunt, D. Heinrich, B. Briggs, P. Smith, K. Salminen, D. Murphy, S. Weldon, H. Fritz, S. Bancroft, C. Karkkainen, A. Calhain, J. Hapenthall, D. Billings, L. Stone, B. Bartuzek, S. Miller, E. Fisk.

Girls' Sports

Not to seem masculine minded, Marshall provided a well rounded athletic program for the girls. Practicing indoors and outdoors, the girls had a successful year of bowling, softball, swimming, badminton, water ballet, and basketball.

The after school clubs were times of fun, participation, and learning. The basic skills and rules governing play were emphasized. The girls developed in ability, learned the values of sportsmanship, and gained experience; also, this year a new club, Leader's Club, was initiated for the purpose of training girls to work with gym classes. The Aquadettes, formerly the water ballet team, performed at the swim meets cheering Marshall's team on to victory.

Andersen Windowalls

FRAME THE PICTURE YOU SEE FROM YOUR NEW HOME

A picture window in the corner of your new home not only will frame the gorgeous scenery that led you to buy your lot, but it can also bring cheering sunshine and welcome ventilation. And if it's an Andersen WINDOWALL, you'll be snug as a bug all winter long, because Andersen WINDOWALLS are weathertight like a wall. Let us help you plan a picture window today.
